Vermont Creamery

<http://www.vermontcreamery.com>

Launched in 1984, Vermont Butter & Cheese Creamery still follows the path Bob and Allison took years ago, crafting artisanal dairy products in the European style through a vital link with local farms. Based in the town of Websterville, the company supports a network of more than 20 family farms, providing milk meeting the highest standards of purity. While Vermont Butter & Cheese Creamery has earned worldwide recognition, the company is proudest of its contribution to the health of local agriculture. After all, as Allison learned on a family farm in France, quality originates at the source - with the people who work the land and the pride they take in the yield.

Harney & Sons

<http://www.harney.com>

More than 25 years ago our friend John Harney made the decision to found Harney & Sons Fine Teas.

Harney is committed to offering the finest teas, and as proof to that achievement, Harney & Sons Teas has been awarded "the best Tea served in England" by the British Tea Council for the past four years. Harney's love of tea has spread worldwide, and the Harneys know that we too have an appreciation of their perfect teas.

Red Barn coffee

<http://www.redbarncoffee.com>

Red Barn Coffee Roasters, from Hopkinton, Massachusetts, is a roaster of specialty coffees, and RBCR provides coffee for its four company-owned cafés and at other locales. Red Barn Coffee Roasters offers a full line of specialty coffees including organic/fair trade coffees available to wholesale, e-commerce, and mail-order customers.

Sarabeth's Kitchen

<http://www.sarabeth.com>

In 1981, Sarabeth and her husband Bill Levine opened a small retail store, a bakery and jam shop, on the upper west side of Manhattan, where customers could see the jams being cooked in a kettle and ladled into jars. The aroma of fresh baked muffins, pastries, cookies and cakes wafted across Amsterdam Avenue Sarabeth's Kitchen restaurants now serve savory meals in eight different locations, and the legendary fruit preserves are available around the world.
